

MEETING OF MINDS? It would seem so, judging by the easy interaction between the two at Tuesday's meeting to discuss the row between film-makers and multiplexes over sharing of revenue in Mumbai. But remember, both Aamir Khan and Shah Rukh Khan are consummate actors and what appears to be may not be so. Each refrained from commenting on the other. SRK even said that the industry's problems were much bigger than their 'alleged' feud. The cold war between the two had begun with Aamir calling Shah Rukh the number 2 star at a press conference last year and had soon deteriorated into a Bollywood farce with Aamir blogging about his dog 'Shah Rukh' licking his feet and the latter retorting that his dog had refused to be named Aamir .
